Student Leadership Retreat 1995
And they call them "leaders", if you wanted to know what goes on when your leaders get up and go away for a retreat. Take a trip with the student leaders as they travel to.....

Frosh Orientation Week 1995
What goes on in the world of our new students known only as "THE FROSH"? Well, we can get an idea of how they see life at OBCby looking through their eyes. This is some of what they saw in their first week around campus.

The Student Body
Can't seem to find that picture of that "someone" in the hall who's name you just can't seem to remember? Well perhaps we can help you with that problem, go and take a look!

The Graduating Class of 1996
Well they're here! In this section you will find some of your friends who are in the 100th graduating class. Take a look and see what they have to say about OBC.

The Staff & Faculty of OBC/OTS
We wanted to devote a section of this yearbook to the people who have kept this school going even when times have been rough. Although they deserve far more, we hope that now you can put the names to the faces you see.

Dorm Daze, Dorm Craze
Ever wondered what went on in the dorms of OBC or how they conducted their everyday life. Here they are in all their glory. Introducing to you: The Dorms Of OBC.

Student Life At OBC
We at OBC have such a mixture of cultures that it truly makes this school one of the best. Here in these pages you get a glance at Student Life as the camera saw it in the halls at OBC.

Sports! Sports! Sports!
If anything, OBC has been known for it's sportsmanship. On the following pages, you will be able to see what sports teams OBC has. Many students participate in them while some just spectate.
May The Spirit of OBC Live ON!!

Student Government & Ministry Teams
Find some of the students who helped make all the events and activities possible. Be a part of it next year, get involved! Help be a part of the foundation that makes OBC so GREAT!!

School Spirit
As you now come to the last few pages of this year's yearbook, we wanted to remind you of some of this year's "Special Moments!"

The President's Address

In 1894, this school operated in an atmosphere of faith. The culture was informed by a biblical understanding, and the citizenry viewed the church as central to society.

None of the above is true today. Toronto the good is anything but that. No longer can you assume that because Canada has an enormous Christian heritage that leadership will give preference to our view of life or that culture will bow and believe.

A word which aptly describes Canada at the end of this century is pluralistic. For some, this is frightening; for others, it is an opportunity. I see it as the latter.

We are in much the same situation as were Christians in Rome in the early centuries. We cannot impose our Christian values on a society which has decided that there is no one guiding set of principles which rule. As the apostle Paul called on Christians in Rome to not be ashamed of the gospel, you are faced with the very real challenge of pressing forward with Christ, confronting the spirits of this age.

I challenge you to accept the opportunity of engaging our culture, pluralistic as it is, with faith and courage.

Brian C. Stiller
Interim and volunteer President and CEO

STUDENT LEADERSHIP

1995

I can't speak for everyone, but after my summer job was finished, I rushed home to pack to return to school. This year, because of cutbacks, we retreated to beautiful and senic Ontario Bible College. There were lots of information sessions, planning times, and even some check up time to find out what happened to everyone over the summer.

As well, it gave us a little time to adjust to the changes that were made at the school and to meet the new members of Community Life. OOPS! I mean Student Affairs. At the end of the week, we got away to Rattle Snake Point for a day. We had fun, got dirty (gotta love those eaves!), and just let loose. These days were good for us as we were drawn closer to God and to each other. - By Nicole Craig

"For this reason I remind you to fan into flame the gift of God, which is in you through the laying on of my hands. For God did not give us a spirit of timidity, but a spirit of power, of love and of self-discipline."
2 Timothy 1:6&7

The side of Julie that you never get to see. Perhaps it is the freshair ? Or maybe the lack of Oxygen to the brain ? (Julie Hackett, 3 North R.A.)

Happy to have escaped with their lives, the OBC Mens Spelunking Team show off their scars, cuts, and dirt collection. (Steve Wilson, Todd Brown, Dale Watson, Greg Mann, Kevin Johnson, and Jay Lehman)

Greg looking over the cliff to see if there is an easier way of getting off this mountain. A ladder perhaps ? (Greg Mann, Evangelism Co-Chair)

Paul, keep in time with the music. 1, 2, 3... Oh, come on, Paul ! This is the "Twist", not the "Hustle" ! (Darryl Buckle, 4 Central R.A. & Paul Morris, President)

As children, some often have their own form of security "Blankie" (a favorite blanket), "Quack Quack" (rubber bath duck), and, yes, even good old Teddy. It seems that Nicole prefers her "Baba". (Nicole Craig, Sports Con.)

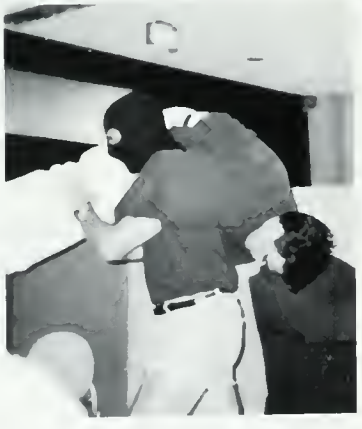
Once again, Luana Busch is caught in the act of living out her favorite fantasy: playing hide-and-go-seek with her "bossom friends", Diana and Gilbert Blythe.

Hey, Mudd, nice pose! You might just make it to the Sports Illustrated cover one of these days. (Andrew Mack making a call)

Buck has finally got what he's wanted for so long-a group of young impressionable Frosh that do anything he tells them.

Mat seems awfully happy about something, doesn't he? By the way, Mat, exactly whose hand is that?

A radical new recruiting technique being considered for next year instead of Sudden Impact. Place ski mask on head; bop prospective student on head; carry their prone body off into the night, never to be seen again.



Frosh Orientation

"I can recollect the first time I heard angels sing...

I can remember the thoughts and worries of the night before the "BIG DAY" into adulthood; "Will I fit in?", "Did I pack a toothbrush?", "What clothes should I wear?", and most importantly, "I hope my roommate isn't a looser." I could hardly sleep through the night in anticipation of my soon-to-be freedom from my parental constraints. And I remember the long car drive made longer still as I thought of all the things I was going to do this year - study harder, loose weight, and, of course, make lots and lots of friends - Sound kinda familiar? But looking back on those first two weeks, I realize it wasn't nearly as bad as I made it out to be. In fact, I remember more the good times and the fun of trying to be myself. I can remember late nights hearing about how Mat Learn got his head stuck in the elevator door (right, Weinie?) I can remember playing volleyball and thinking, "Hey, I'm not too bad" and then I met Graham Buchanan. And who could forget meals as Joel Main expressed his love for tea - "Tea is the epitome of all that is good, moral, and true." I can recollect the first time I heard angels sing as I listened to Heather Johnston and Erinn Grant. These are only a few of my memories and the greatest part of coming to this school is realizing that we will all take from it our own memories.

I am thankful that I have come to this school. It has given me opportunities in ministry and growth that very few schools offer. I am thankful for the teaching and the lessons that the profs and, more importantly, God have shown me. The things I will remember the most will be the times when you and I, as a body, let God move in us and was real to us. As I close, I leave you with a thought: "Without Truth there is no growth." May we all "grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

Peace, Love, and Joy,

Matt Barton

FROSH ORIENTATION WEEK...

Okay, here is the plan! I want two people to confuse the new students moving into dorm while the rest of us will get their stuff from their cars. (Some of the Student Leaders planning their attack.)

Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle! Getting some pratice for all those blue bins around the school. (Andrew Mack and others taking the three "R's" just a little too far.)

Being an interdenominational school, students want to share thier own traditions with the other students. Which church preforms this kind of Baptism? (Kevin Johnson and Matt Barton helping to cleanse Dale Watson.)

Getting ready for the close quarters of the dorm rooms, or maybe the Frosh this year are just very friendly! (Frosh students getting a close-up, but who is the guy in the front?)

Eager to show some of this year's Frosh some survival techniques, Keith gets a little carried away. Telephone books don't taste too good do they? (Keith Bundock and Frosh)

What exactly are these people looking at? Could it be a volleyball or maybe one of the thousands of Canadian Geese on Centre Island? (Bombs away!)

Yes, you to can own your very own OBC patented trash compactor for the low, low price of $9.95, food and lodgings not included. (Krista, Tara, Allison, Mary-Ellen, Trevor, and Jay)

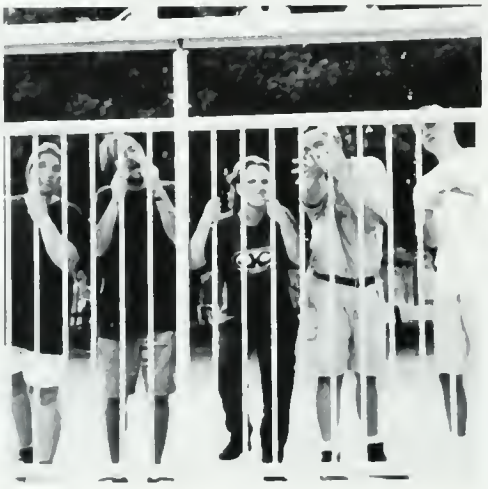
To help cut costs, some residence students of OBC have decided that communal showers, versus conventional ones, would be more efficient. (Joel, Mark, and Krista)

Just some of the rowdies that took over the TTC on the way back from the Centre Island picnic. Say cheese, everybody!

No, I'm serious. Rubbing watermelon rind on your face really does make your skin smooth! (Roseanne and Charlane)

All things bright and beautiful, all creatures great and small, all things wise and wonderful, the Lord God made them all. Yeah, right! (Kathy, Ron, Andrea, Jon, and Scott)

Martin having a ball at the Center Island Frosh picnic, a football, that is!(I still think that it's his impression of Arsenio Hall)



True to nature's way, Doug Nagy tries to attract a mate by showing off his bright plumage, unfortunately he has no success. But it sure puts new meaning to the "Ontario Bridal College" stereotype

Four of OBC's finest musicians. Who's the Man? performed at the Frosh banquet. Not only do they write their own music, but they're colour coordinated too

Yes, we know that we're holding our guide maps in front of the statue. As students of OBC, we feel it is our duty to monitor what goes into our yearbook. Just take the picture already! (Mat, Jen, Krista, Heather J., Sarah, Heather, Karen, and the naked statue)

Sarah practicing some new yoga techniques for tired college students

You can dress him up but you can't take him out! Didn't his mom tell him that if he kept making faces, that it would stay that way? (Dave and Charlene)

Jamie may be an awesome volleyball player, but he's no match for my super vertical jumping power. Up, up, and away! (Dan and Jamie)

Yes, I like Beaver meals. And what do you mean this is going in the yearbook?

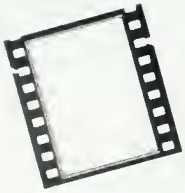
So guys, how long am I supposed to stand here like this? Guys?...Guys?(Scott Sadler)

They say that people's true emotions come out in pictures. Deb is distracted, Andrea's angry, Suzanne is very smily, and Chris...Chris?... (Frosh gals)

What do you mean I'm living in a storage closet? (Sule Prince and friend)

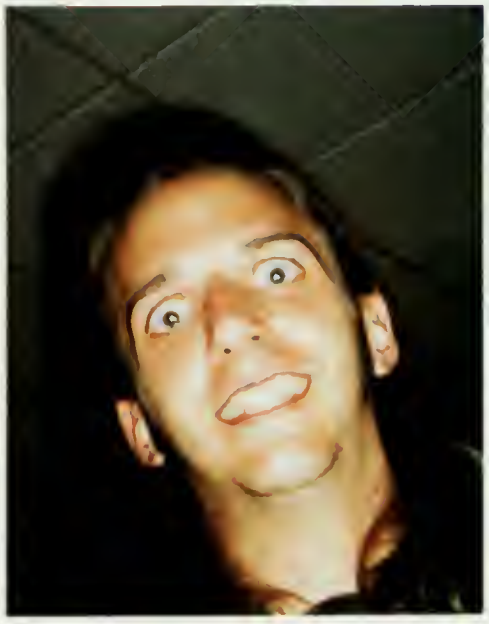
Yo, what's your deal, Trevor? You're supposed to use shaving cream, not icing. (Trevor Brisbin and Jen Weaver)

Andrew likes to play doctor every once in a while. I know you're sick, boy but, no, I will not be your nurse. Really, you'll be fine. Just keep sucking back that oxygen.



Horrified Frosh look on as an Upperclassman (person?) is run over by a train in a freak Frosh Week accident. (Krista, Mark, and Frosh)

Camera happy commuter strikes again! You'll never know when she's coming. No one is safe from her cunning eye and blinding flash. (Karen Miller)



Todd Brown - one of the few men dreamed about on 5th Floor. This picture is sure to get him a lot of visitors. Of course, the ones in white coats will probably get to him first.

I don't even go to this school and I'm still getting tortured. Be careful, Ron. I might just start eating your finger. Grrr! (Melanie Joseph and Ron Mahler)

Stephanie is really getting into the "grunge" look for the Urban Ministries team night on the streets.

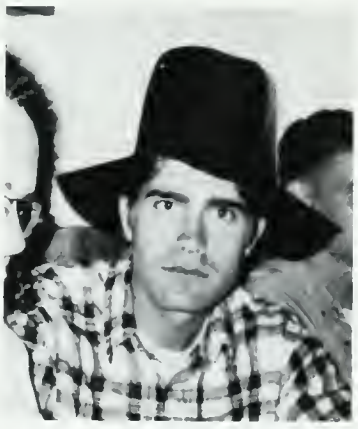
Boy, this line sure is long! Are the leaders positive there's enough food to go around? You guys must be hungry after all that running. Why are you looking at me that way?

Wow! Krista is so great! She is a super RA, she is a good student, and she knows everything about boys. What more could we ask for? (Deb, Nancy, Cathy, and Krista)

"If you procrastinate like I do, everything will just keep piling up. Eventually, you'll be pleading for one more extension and then it becomes an addiction! (Erinn giving Shelly some timely advice.)

An OBC flag football game is one of the best places to hang out with friends. A blanket, my sunglasses and thou. (Jen Weaver, Melanie Joseph, and Amy Stewart)

What? All I said was that I didn't like his hat. Now he's got this wounded look on his face. Am I not entitled to an opinion? (Joel Main and Aaron Edlington)



I want my stuffed dog back! You always wanted it so you stole it, didn't you? Give it back! Give it back! (Dave Lapsley and Doug Nagy)

You don't want to miss these!

The Toronto waterfront and skyline. You can even see the missionary ship Caribbean Mercy docked just to the left of the Sky Dome.

"If she waves that brussel sprout in my face one more time, I think I'm going to scream!" (Jen Mitchell and Andrea Johnston)

"Hurry up and take the picture. I'm getting hungry and I want to eat my lunch, NOW!" (Mary Ellen White and Shawn Harrison)

"Now I remember what I forgot - my fuzzy bunny slippers!" (Cathy Vanderlaan)

Seeing that Jen was distracted, Bill took the opportunity to sneak another can of pop.

Look at that smile! No wonder people are so happy when she's around! (Vanessa O'Hara)

You won't know when and you won't know where, but I will get you! (Duane Jukema)

Oh, this is YOUR photo album! Gee, you sure were a cute baby, but I had no idea your birthmark is shaped like Manitoba!

She's doing the eye thing again isn't she? Oh, that is so gross! Get me out of here, please! No, don't leave-take me with you! (Krista Hall & Margie May)

No, I haven't been eating a lot of chocolate. Wh you ask? (Lisa Chan)

'Our committment is as strong as our will to fulfill them.' Four years at OBC and with it came many challenges, blessings, friends and memories. It is good experience to study and work at OBC. It is home away from home. I would like to express my thanks to the staff and students of OBC and, especially my family, for all the encouragement and support I needed to endure to the end and achieve this accomplishment for God's glory. But thanks to God for leading and helping me to take the baton to the very end. Long live OBC! I love you all!'

Through so many, I know God is in my midst. I thank the 4 godly men who are my promisekeepers; Winona Gospel for believing: my family who gave beyond reason for my sake; to Cindy, for the way you love God by loving me! You are my princess! To all, see you again one day where the streets have no name.

The last three years have been an interesting journey. I longed for answers, but leave with more questions. I desired to learn more, but realise I know nothing. My mind, thoughts, life, Christianity, concept of God, and future have been expanded through OBC, and for this I give thanks and glory to Christ the Creator, Reconcilor, and Sustainer.

Luana Busch
BRS

"My future seemed to stretch before me like a straight road. I could see along it for many a milestone. Now there is a bend in it. It has a fascination of its own, that bend. I wonder how the road beyond it goes - what new landscapes - what new beauties - what curves and hills and valleys further on."

My life here at OBC has been a lot like a basketball game. Besides all the double dribbles and technical fouls, it's been worth it for those donks! So, when life gives you an airball, just reverse jam it, baby! Love you all!

Hokey-doodle time flies! To all of you I know and love (you know who you are), I thank you for the giggles, cheek pinching, winks, hugs, chats, tea, dinner and, most of all, your prayers and encouragement. As simple as these things may be I am truly grateful for the time shared, memories made and the friendships that have blossomed. Remember to always "taste and see that the Lord is good" Prv 34:8. Where do I go from here? God only knows, but wherever that is I will be going differently than I would have before OBC. Thanks to all my Profs for the permanent mark each has left in my mind. Thanks also to all the players and coaches of the ice hockey team for making College extra challenging by giving me a reason to get up unusually early or stay up unusually late practicing or playing (I really did enjoy it though!). I'd especially like to express my gratitude to my dear wife, Ardelle, my parents and my family for their love and support that helped me through, and, oh yeah, THANK YOU, LORD!

God called me to use my gifts and abilities for Him in urban ministry. He has filled me with His love to pour out upon the poor, homeless, weak, prostitutes, prisoners, and the sick. I feel called to be a part of their communities - to take the church outside the walls and emulate Christ to them.

"The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to release the oppressed, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favour."

There are many things to be learned at Bible School: denominational distinctives combined with a healthy dose of doctrinal dogmatism. Remember that the first rule of discipleship is "love" and the first rule of theology is "humility". Disagree with your brother, but love him. Argue your convictions, but remember you are sure to be wrong about something, sometime

As a parent nurtures a child, so OBC has equipped me with the knowledge to find the tools to guide me through a lifetime of change, challenge, & charity. I have learned that failure is OK if we rise to learn from mistakes & rise to the challenge of the future. I have learned to question & change while remaining relatively dogmatic. And I have learned that when encountering the charity of Christ, there is compassion for a globe crying for spiritual & physical redemption. After laughter & tears, trial & error, let's leave the nest!

I really wondered if I could complete my program at OBC when I took the first course. It was so hard and I did not know what I should do. Should I withdraw from the college? How could I finish all the rest in the future? I asked God why He let me enter this program. I could only pray to Him. Now as I look back, I can only praise the Lord that He made it, not me.

300 spaces to sum up 5 years? Okay. I came to OBC thinking I knew exactly what God wanted for me. But, He showed me differently - many, many times - with the help of others. So, what have I learned? Expectations are overrated. Expect nothing from anyone and everything from God. You'd be surprised!

My experience at OBC has been indelible and unique. I would like to thank the faculty for their encouragement and warmth and fellow students who exemplified the significance of community. Too much to say in such a small space. So how about this: I am forever grateful for everyone who has made my OBC years some of the best of my life. God has challenged, equipped, strengthened, rebuked, and blessed me through this place. This isn't goodbye - this is the start of something new - something amazing. Give me your vision, Jesus. Congratulations Philip, you made it! Your years at OBC have not all been easy ones, but with your eyes firmly set on the prize you ran the race with honor. I am so very proud of you. I can see God changing you into the man He wants you to be and I look to the future with great expectation. Thank-you for all the joy and happiness you bring to me. All my love S.P..

Learning through God's Diversity

Living in a school filled with so many different personalities and backgrounds is an excellent opportunity to have a glimpse of the diversities God blessed this world with. Not only a school for most but a home away from home, living here opens ones mind and allows a person to glean from the knowledge and experience of thier peers. Although not always easy to deal with, the diversities that we have are all brought together by one common bond, Jesus Christ. We all know Him, love Him and want to be obedient to him and this is a bond between us that can never be broken.

I have already said that this is worth while but not always easy. We on third floor try to demonstrate our vision which is "community despite diversity". Our floor is the ultimate example of diversity, with ages ranging right across the board. With the differences of ages comes different outlooks on life as we are talking about totally different generations merging. For example, we have one great man that is generationally challenged that finds it completely necessary to wander the halls in next to nothing. I can't remember sseing him in my first month of school in anything but a towel. Others that are certifiable hermits, others that have divine knowledge on every subject from vleaning toilets to the trinity, and still some that one might question their sanity. Despite these different personalities, we come together as brothers in Christ. We realize our limitations as individuals and grow as a body. Dorm unity is an incredibly important element in trust and coming together as this community. As a dorm, we have partaken in the sacred ritual of the mighty hooligan night which has brought us closer together in striking out against others. With obvious expectations, the dorm has grown in loyalty and trust with one another growing as friends and brothers. We on the third floor count ourselves privileged to serve God together under the same roof and will cherish the relationships we have formed in the glory of God.

3SOUTH

3rd South has evolved from year to year. "Community despite diversity"-there's never been a theme that describes 3S so well. From shy to hyper, classical to alternative with a dash of united nations mixed in, 3 South stands its ground to add to the overall flavour of the OBC Community. So we pride ourselves in being different...unique...diverse...we all had something unique to give, who could ever forget the closet filled with food. (Thanks, Kathy, for the displays!) And Toshimi for our first dorm event! (Squid anyone?) Pickle Barrel with the guys...Does anyone need a smile?...Twee's got one! Washboard Workout. And who could forget Tracey's P. Jamma's...the late night talks. (Thanks, Cheryl!) Thanks for the vocal entertainment in the showers, Florence. We were sad to say goodbye to Heather, and Natasha, but a warm welcome to Lisa C., Renata, Sui-Min, and Christina. Puzzling!?! And last, but not least, a big congradulations to Lisa and Bret!

Thanks for the year, Ladies!

ALWAYS REMEMBER...

As we look back over this last school year, we see each of Christ's girls stretched to be more like their Father. We have thought about what we want to leave you with, words from Holly & Krista that don't just capture the fun or what you have learned, but will continue to challenge you all!

Remember...the courageous goals you have made and will continue to make; if it is something you are scared to do, then make it your goal to do it. Take Courage!

Remember...to do everything for God's glory - be it joking around, talking to the Pizza Man (remember to pray for the Pizza Man, Mark) or pulling pranks, let everything please you, Father. (Col. 3:17)

Remember...if you feel comfortable where you are at with Christ, you are in trouble. Keep asking questions and wanting more.

Remember...to live your life with "No Regrets".

Remember...to listen to God asking, "Do you trust me?"

Remember...laundry chute, Charlene's flood, love of pink, flicking the fire alarm, swimming petition, our brother dorm that wasn't, our dorm supper ("I love Erwin"), ballerina dolls, Veggie Tales, not knowing what dorm meeting is, all our pranks,...

Remember...your R.A.'s really, truly love you and always brag of the bestest dorm. Our hope and prayer is that you will continue to live madly in love with Jesus.

To recall the past year in 4 central, must of course, begin with the outstanding mark left on the football field. Like a tiger released from its cage, we were quickly whipped and sent back whence we came. The recovery was progressing well until the award for the "Best Dorm Supper" was snatched from our grasp!! All scars will heal in time. As for highlights, the list is long. Longest kick to end the season - Thunder; Largest line on a losing team - Dan, Dave, Gary; Song of the year - "I'm in love with my tractor" - Andy & Jeff; Best spanish proverb (the only spanish proverb) - Karl; Costco Costomer of the year - Brad; Most money offered for hair - Dave; Most hair lost without so much as a dime being given to help comfort the poor soul - N.A.; Creative Communication for his interpretive dance of the 23rd Psalm - Doug; Best impersonation for Andy - Andrew Mack. Well, that's about it. So here is to Motorhead Mundays, Metal Rules DWA, RAWAC.

4 SOUTH

"The Knights of 4 South"

Recorded here in the annals of (hey, what are annals anyway?) ..is the record of the geneology of that most holy clan of 4 South:

Aaron E., of Red Deer, begat Mark C., wearer of fine loin clothes; who begat Alex, the tanner or was that Simon?; anyways, he begat Myke who'd begone with Steve, Dave, and Todd. Now before Todd begone he begat Mark of Poulton and we're not talking chicken; he begat Bret, maker of fine breads; who beloaved Matt B., raised in the land of Tuba; who in turn begat Jamie, of no specific country; then Trev, the Hipite was begotten who beebopped Aaron G, of Levi (no, not the jeans!); hence begotten was Johnathan, son of Thomp; who lived near the region of Paul "Plankeye" Morris; who when he was of age begat Shawn, son of Harris & his followers; who in turn begat Mat, of Welcome, and his fellow brother K.D., of Lang, who after a period of months begat., Jonathan L., commander of the army; finally begotton was J.D., who was known as D.J. when he looked in the mirror. Thus ends the chronicles of the R.A's.

And they all lived in the promised land of thier forebrothers happily ever after. Thank for a jolly year "GUYS"

We love you all!

5 SOUTH

SOUTH IS THE PLACE TO BE!!

Wow! If guys only knew what really went on behind the closed doors of the girl's floor. We would probably fuel their confusion, pique their horror, arouse nervous laughter and send others running for the sanctity and smell of thier own floor. All in all, it would probably give some solid doubt to that popular title "Women are from Venus, Men are from Mars".

There is something about putting 16 women together to live in such close proimity, sharing closets, washrooms stalls (and, yes, we mean to make the distinction between stall and simply washroom), air, regardless of the quality (girls, you know who you are!), smiles, tears, laughter, songs, and prayers. What it has created is a unique environment in which we have learned what it is to be sisters in Christ. Learning to rejoice with those who rejoice and weep with those who weep. Learning what it is to come alongside one another encouraging and strengthening each other.

And finally, beloved, our desire has been to focus on whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable and to think about such things as those which are excellent & praiseworthy.

Ladies of South, Sisters in Christ, we thank you for the opportunity to have served you this semester! May God reveal himself in you and may the Spirit clothe himself with you until we all reach maturity in him.

Love Tara & Mary-Ellen.

THE 6TH FLOOR CHALLENGE

God has changed the 6th floor - it's interaction, it's role in the school and it's dynamics. The year started with mostly new residents, reflective of life and the journey of becoming like Jesus. The year contained laughter, anguish, refreshment, frustration, loneliness, and exuberance! In the end, people were revealed more of God and themselves to them. The intent for the 6th floor this year was to be taught:

Humility
Encouragement
Freedom

God used this year and the 6th floor residents to be a pivot for the future of the 6th floor. Two encouraging aspects of this year were their heart felt involvement in street ministry and reaching out to certain OBC students.

Under the leardership of coach and team MVP of the league, Jay Lehman, the OBC men's volleyball team had a great season. As early underdogs, the team's chemistry was desperate for sparks. It was seen as a rebuilding year by most, but the proved to be the number one ranked men's team in the league. With fiery veterans, Jay and Bill, joining a nucleus of a team, headed by Karl, Aaron, Simon, Mike, Jay, Dwayne, Jamie, Jon, Andrew, Antero, and Graham.

As one of the graduating members, it is my honor to say we proved something and had a good time along the way. Thanks for a great season! Thank you, Jay, for putting up with it all!

Thanks to the whole team. Way to go out there and take the gold!

Men's Basketball Team

This year, OBC's men's basketball team had a very interesting season, beginning right from the try-outs. For the first time in the school's history, the team consisted of one female player. Why? 'Cause there wasn't any women's team (but it doesn't mean she can't "hang wit" the boys)'. Throughout the season, players came and players went; coaches came and coaches went; and even managers came and went. Where? You tell me. The team has its ups and downs (some a little lower than we expected). On a positive tip, the new year meant a new team:

And the cheering sounds like a choir,
And the choir is singing some new song,
And the sound of the song
Has your hands rising and saying:
We could love this
We could love this
We could be in love with this.
And we do.
And we can.
And we are.

Who's the Man?

Well, well,well Who would have ever thought that nearly two years after the fact, we would still be kicking around? One thing we have learned is that you never know what is going to happen, regardless of how well you may plan it out By this time, we thought we would be on our second European tour with a double platinum album and David Letterman as the president of our fan club. In actuality, we are touring Ontario, we just finished recording our second demo and David Letterman is the president of our fan club. "Hey kids, you like the rock & roll?"

We have been called "Who's the Band", "Who is Sam", "Whod'Man", "Whoomp - There's the Man", and even "What's the name of Your Band Again?", but we are WHO'S THE MAN and we haven't forgotten who we are. Mark "large-mouth-Bass guitar" Abraham, Pernell "You drums have been bad, I'm gonna tan your hides" Goodyear, B.J "What song are we doing again?" Raymond, and Keith "Waltz-Happy" Anderson have all made WHO'S THE MAN what it is Credit must be given to God who pulled us all together by means of the megalithic institution that is OBC We received much encouragement from a lot of people who must have been as shocked as us to hear more than just noise coming out of our instruments.

Life as WHO'S THE MAN has had it's ups and downs. Many-a-practice has been cut short by proctors (opps, Security) "Hey, I'm just doing my job!" they say. "Well hey, so are we!" Recording was even interrupted once for a much appreciated, "Five minutes, o.k.?" But we love you hard-working, walky-talky carrying, make-me-feel-secure, this-is-not-a-drill people. There have been many times when your grace has allowed us 15 precious minutes to nail down a song, and many-a-door has been unlocked for us - Like that time we wanted Bruce Gordon's door opened because we thought that room would have the best acoustics. Man, that was some jam! We were accused once of thievery if you can believe that, but we brought the stuff back - it was just a joke! Honestly, Mr. Jeff Beamish has always been quite kind to us and we truly thank him - thank you!

We would also like to thank all the people who contributed in big and small ways there are so many that we have decided to say, you know who you are, and you know who the Man is.

And now for all those budding young musicians out there - if we can do this, you can certainly do this We just have one word of warning for you. Adopt the phrase, "Cash up front or we walk," and you will do fine

May the Lord make your lives a living hell (in the best possible way) so you may be a piece of heaven for those within it Keep singing our songs in the shower, and watch for us .

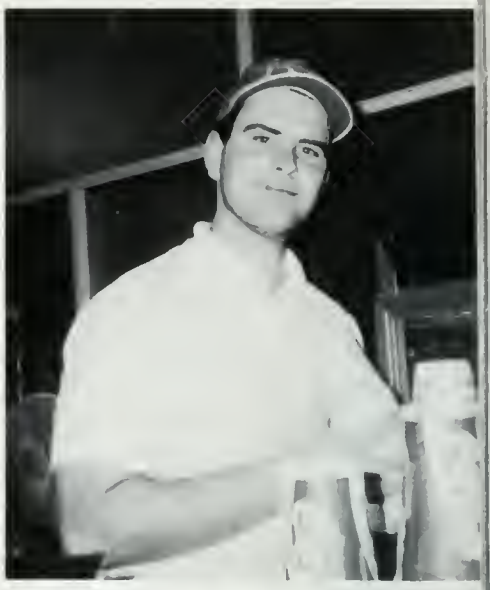
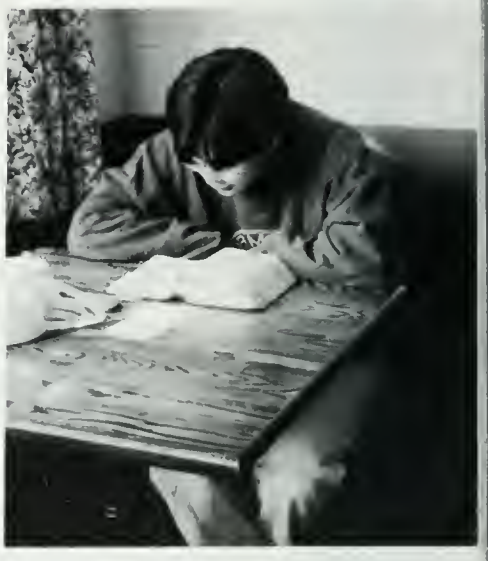
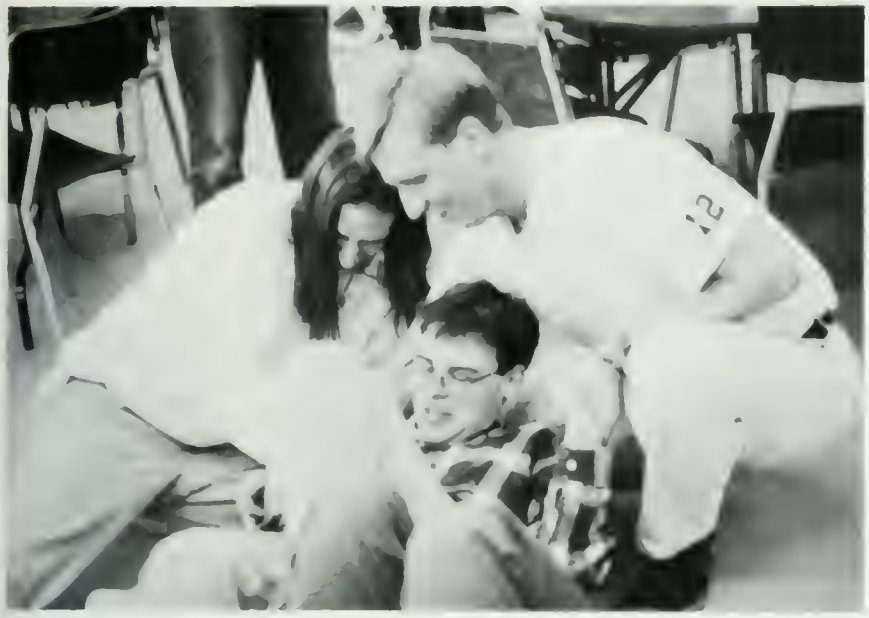
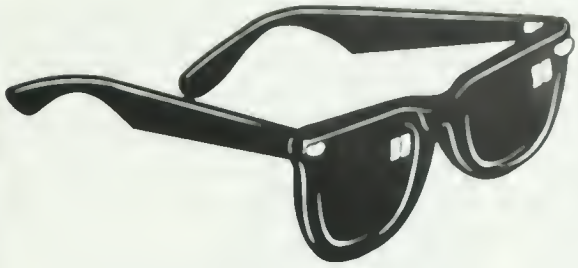
School Spirit









OUTRAGEOUS WITH Partwist

Fever Dreams

Late at night, his body tired and sore yet held captive to the will of a mind raging and surging ahead, he looks up and spies a rent in the air above. He reaches up, forcing his hands into the midst of the shirling sea of colours, and strains to pry his hands apart, to force the rent wide enough to behold what lies on the other side. As it opens, it spills its light out upon him, and this is what he sees in the light.

It is a field. A pasture of unmown grasses, waving beneath the caress of a soft breeze. The sky is the faintest blue: and though it is noonday bright, the sun cannot be seen. There is a slight knoll, a small island of earth within the sea of grasses. On the knoll stands a lone tree. An oak, bent twisted with age, yet still strong and proud. Sitting on the branch of the tree there is a child. The child looks and says:

"Come. Come and be with me."

"Must I?" he replies.

"Why do you ask 'must I'?" comes the response.

"If I must, I will, and I will do so gladly for this is a good place and I long to be with you. But, if it is not 'must' I would stay where I am."

"This is strange. If this place is good and you long to be here, why do you not come?"

"I do not come because, although it is harder, I may also know you where I am. But you will ask, 'why choose the more difficult route?' I choose this route because in this place I have come to know myself, and in that knowing I have found others whom i love and who love me in return, and I would not leave them. And so, if it is 'must' I will come and be glad, but if it is not 'must', I will delay that coming joy."

"It is not 'must'. Go, return to your own, and I will join you there."

His hands withdrawn, the rent closes, the scene fades, and he falls into a deep sleep.

THE 1995-96 YEARBOOK COMMITTEE

A Message from the Editor

Wow!...What a staff we had this year! Faithful and diligent; there whenever we needed them, especially at "crunch time" (which was most of the time, actually!) Thanks also goes out to those creative photographers that donated pictures to the Yearbook and those that did write-ups for various pages, teams, and dorms.

Special thanks to the OBC Student Council for their support and prayers, to Ian Ellis for his willingness and time, and to Glenn Hunt for his computer expertise.

All these wonderful people made this yearbook possible. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

God Bless,
Jen Dyett/Editor

As I reviewed this past year in my mind, I am reminded of the many struggles, challenges, and triumphs faced in the production of this yearbook. But even through all of these, I can say with no doubt in my voice that I am proud of every single person that worked to make this book one that people will cherish for years to come.

There is so much to say but only a limited amount of space, so here goes. To my co-editor and "right-hand-man" Mark - thank you for all your hard work, I couldn't have done it without you. Lana - thank you for your support, your knowledge, your kindness, and your constructive criticism. Andrew - my friend, thank you for your willing pen and awesomely creative mind. Ron M. - SURPRIZE!

Finally, personal thanks: To my family - for supporting me in everything I do. To my friend Ed - for making me laugh. Luv Ya, you big hick. To my roommate Amy - thank you for your support and for listening to me when I needed to talk. And last, but certainly not least, to my best friend Rachel - you've been there for me through all my frustrations, heartbreaks, celebrations, and triumphs. I love you with all my heart.

Yearbooks play an important role in any school, college, or university. They keep a record of the year, preserving memories forever. So when you look through this book, laugh, cry, do whatever you need to do, because this is your book.

Yearbook Co-Editor 1995-96

I can't believe that the year is almost over; it seems that time has passed us by so quickly. Thinking back, this past year has been one of many memories. Being a part of the Yearbook for 1995-96 has been an experience that I will never forget, one with many challeneges and trimuphs. As I pause for a moment to collect my thoughts, the screen saver on the computer writes on the screen, "Mark's second home is the Yearbook Office!". My dream about the Yearbook is one of Memories. This is a book where we can look back and remember the times we had, the friends we have made, and how much God has shaped our lives. I hope that every time you pick up your Yearbook, you will remember the Memories. Thanks to a lot of people; Cheryl B, Lana B, the tonnes of people who took pictures, and to all others who I might have missed. But there are two people who I can't forget, which are: God, who directed me and gave me the inspriation for a large amount of the pages for the Yearbook. And also to my Love, Heather, who was there beside me, in thought and in prayer, who was very understanding and patient with me with all the time I spent in the Yearbook Office. So I dedicate my part of the Yearbook to Heather. Congratulations on your Graduation!!

Love and Peace,

Mark Page

Love is more than just hearts and flowers and romance, more than candlelit dinners and dancing, more than walks in the park and moments of intimate sharing.
Love lasts beyond those initial stages...
It is understanding through the difficult times, caring past the disagreements.
It's laughing together when things are good, or laughing together to keep from crying when things couldn't seem to go more wrong.
It is patience and compassion, compromise and healing. Love is forgiving and forgiving and forgiving.
Love is everything we share together.
Because to me, love is and always will be you.
